

Vote YES on Question 1

The Opportunity School District will help our 68,000 children that are trapped in failing schools for no reason other than their address.

On average, failing high schools have only a 56% graduation rate and less than 12% of 3rd grade students enrolled in failing schools are reading on grade level.

What is the Opportunity School District?

The proposed constitutional amendment would authorize the state to step in and intervene in persistently failing public schools and rescue the children languishing in them. This model creates a new, state-run school district, the Opportunity School District (OSD), in which Georgia's worst performing schools can be placed. This model has already been used successfully in other states and allows schools the opportunity to receive the support and undergo the changes they need to improve – free of any restraints or limiting policies imposed by the district.

Ensure Local Control

The Opportunity School District empowers parents, teachers and our communities to fix failing schools and ensure a quality education for our children.

Fix Failing Schools

The Opportunity School District is a solution proven to work in other states. It would help our public schools that received an "F" rating 3 years in a row.

Break the Cycle of Poverty

High school dropouts make up 70% of Georgia's prison population. By ensuring a quality education, we can give our children the opportunity they deserve.

Will Not Affect Good Schools

If your child already attends a well-performing public school, the Opportunity School District will not change their school in any way.

Learn about the Opportunity School District and Question 1: